Education and Accreditation Information
Essentials and Decision Factors for Multi-Chamber Bag Parenteral Nutrition

Course Goal and Target Audience:
ASPEN's MCB-PN Course is designed for members of the healthcare team including dietitians, nurses, pharmacists, physicians, researchers and others to practice nutrition support. This course is ideal for healthcare team members who provide nutrition support therapy, specifically parenteral nutrition, to patients in the home, outpatient, or hospital settings.

Objectives:
1. Define MCB-PN and list the types of products available.
2. Identify the indications for the use of MCB-PN.
3. Describe the proper processes for prescribing, ordering, reviewing, preparing, and labeling MCB-PN.
4. Administer MCB-PN and monitor patients receiving MCB-PN.
5. Implement MCB-PN safely in a variety of clinical scenarios.

Successful Completion: To receive CE credit, course participants must complete the entire online course, score 100% on the post-assessment, and complete the course evaluation. All credit must be claimed by the course's posted expiration date. Those who do not claim credit by the posted expiration date forfeit credit for the course.

ASPEN submits data as required to the CPE Monitor for pharmacists. ASPEN submits physician-earned CME credit into Pars. ASPEN does not submit data to any other credentialing organization.

Pharmacists and physicians, please note that ASPEN will upload earned CE credit into the appropriate system within the required timeframe. Any credit not claimed by the deadline will not be entered. Please provide your correct information when completing your evaluation and claiming CE credit.

ASPEN submits only the information that is entered by the pharmacist or physician when credit is claimed and is not responsible for following up to obtain any corrected information to ensure an error-free submission.

Release and Expiration Dates: Release date: November 10, 2026. Expiration date: November 9, 2029. CE credit cannot be claimed after the expiration date, no exceptions.
